Paris—(P)—Premier Leon Blum warned Italy today that France will not tolerate the "open invasion of Spain."

Informed sources disclosed the socialistic premier, in a long talk with Vittorio Cerruti, the Italian ambassador, declared the reported landing of Italian troops near Malaga from an Italian warship was a flagrant violation of Italy's non-intervention pledges.

He also told Cerruti that France regarded such intervention a potential threat to her North African communications.

International reports have stated that the landing of at least 12,000 Italians preceded Spanish insurgent capture of the seaport of Malaga.

Informed persons asserted that if Portugal still refused to cooperate in permitting neutral supervision of her borders, the Franco-British fleet should, in effect, blockade the Portugal coast.

At the same time police authorities in Morocco began an investigation of reports that members of the French Foreign Legion were deserting in an organized manner in order to furnish recruits for General Francisco Franco's Spanish insurgent army.

VALENCIA'S CASUALTIES

Valencia, Spain—(P)—At least 22 persons were known to have been killed and 55 others injured in an insurgent naval bombardment of the city, official sources reported today.

Scores of public and private buildings were damaged, government officials said after a survey of the effects of the shelling last night by an insurgent cruiser which crept close off shore and fired 35 shells into the city, temporary seat of the government.

Among the damaged buildings, they said, were a provincial hospital and savings bank, the interurban railroad station and a children's home.

In one demolished house, four children, their mother and grandmother were said to have been killed.

Discipline was tightened over the civil population after the attack on the refugee-packed city.

FIRE ON PLANE

London—(P)—Two British destroyers opened fire when an airplane, "believed to be a Spanish insurgent plane" attempted to bomb them off the coast of Algeria, official circles disclosed today.

The plane dropped six bombs near the destroyers Navock and Gypsy while the vessels were stationed near Cape Tenez, it was officially announced. The bombs did no damage to the ships.

Official protests against the bombing were immediately dispatched by Great Britain to insurgent authorities at Palma, Majorca island, and Salamanca, administrative headquarters for the government of insurgent General Francisco Franco.

The attacking airplane was described by official sources as "apparently a Junkers (German) machine."

The British government is convinced it was an insurgent plane from the type of machine and the fact it flew off in the direction of the Balearic islands after the destroyers opened fire," they added.

Burglars Take $1,800
From Safe at Madison

Madison—(P)—Paul Esser, proprietor of the Cardinal meat market, estimated today at $1,800 the amount of cash taken by burglars from the store safe Saturday night.

Detectives said burglars, failing in an attempt to knock the combination off the safe, chiseled a hole through the door and reached the bar releasing the combination.

Checks totaling $212 were found on the floor in front of the safe.

Dr. Angell will be 68, the mandatory retirement age for faculty members, on May 8, a month before the Yale commencement.

Edward Refuses To Postpone His Marriage DateSister Fails to Win Delay
But Helps Untangle
Financial Affairs

London—(P)—Former King Edward VIII was understood today to have answered his royal family's plea to delay his wedding to Wallis Simpson with a determined "no."

The exiled duke of Windsor's "irrevocable" decision to wed the woman for whose love he renounced his throne was brought to his mother and his sovereign brother yesterday by the princess royal, the family's emissary to Edward at Enzefeld castle, near Vienna.

Despite his sister's failure to shake Windsor's determination to marry Mrs. Simpson at the first opportunity, she was believed to have met with more success in clearing up the self-exiled monarch's troubled financial affairs.

While the amount of money which King George VI, as head of the family, offered his brother, or the sum Edward asked to allow him to maintain the royal dignity in exile, probably will never be definitely known, it was believed a two-point amicable agreement had been reached:

1. King George, it was thought, would make Edward an allowance from the royal family's private income of $75,000 to $100,000 a year.

2. Edward would reduce the price of $75,000 he was reported demanding for Sandringham house to a figure which Queen Mother Mary and King George might meet.

They were reported to have offered $500,000 for Sandringham house which King George V, whose favorite residence it was, left outright to Edward.

Four Deaths Laid
To Snow and ColdHighway Traffic Paralyzed
In Parts of Minnesota, DakotasBy the Associated Press
At least four deaths were attributed today to freezing weather and snow storms that visited the northwest and far west over the weekend.

Highway traffic was virtually paralyzed by snow in parts of Minnesota and the Dakotas. Southern California suffered drenching and a dust storm swirled over the Oklahoma panhandle.

Two Minnesota motorists were killed in traffic accidents during a blinding snowstorm. A South Dakota farmer lost his way in a snow storm and perished within a mile of his home. A man missing for two weeks was found frozen to death west of Grants Pass, Ore.

Highway crews worked in 24 hours shifts to rescue marooned motorists in Minnesota. Hundreds of automobiles were stuck in drifts. Federal weather observers said many side roads would remain closed until spring.

The holy father suffered a mild setback yesterday after his faltering effort to walk and his sleep last night when 1,500 persons were jammed into the theater.

Most of the bodies were charred beyond recognition. One family lost 21 members.

The flames spread with such speed a balcony collapsed a few minutes after the fire started, plunging screaming, fighting hundreds on the floor of the frenzied spectators on the lower floor.

The flames destroyed more than 30 buildings.

Toronto—(P)—Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe physician to the Dionne quintuplets, is in Toronto General Hospital with influenza. It was disclosed today. Dr. Dafoe was taken ill last week at his hotel.

Antung, Manchoukuo—(P)—Every available carpenter and lumberjack of this little bordertown on the main route between Japan and Manchuria was pressed into service today to hew coffins for 800 Chinese killed in a theater fire.

A carelessly placed candle behind a screen in the Manchu Wu Tai playhouse, devoted to the old-style Chinese drama, investigation disclosed, started the holocaust Saturday night when 1,500 persons were jammed into the theater.

Washington—(P)—Proposals for constitutional amendments and "advisory" national referendum emphasized today the split in Democratic ranks over President Roosevelt's court reorganization proposals.

Senator Ellender of Louisiana introduced a resolution to amend the constitution to require retirement of supreme court justices when they reach the age of 70.

Mr. Roosevelt asked congress for authority to increase the high court's members to as high as 15 unless justices over 70 who are now on the bench retire.

Ellender acted shortly after Senator Burke of Nebraska, a leading opponent of the president's plan, said he would propose an amendment to provide for compulsory retirement of federal judges when they reach 75 years of age.

A far-western Democrat Representative Smith of Washington introduced the resolution calling for a national referendum.

Washington—(P)—Senator Burke (D-Neb.) a leading opponent of President Roosevelt's court reorganization program, said today he would propose a constitutional amendment to provide for compulsory retirement of federal judges when they reach 75 years of age.

In outlining this alternative for the president's plan, the Nebraskan asserted that so far as he was concerned there "can be no compromise" on Mr. Roosevelt's proposal to increase the size of the supreme court unless justices over 70 retire.

At the same time, Burke said Attorney General Cummings' speech last night in behalf of that proposal was "an incomplete presentation of the case" which could be answered easily.

The Nebraskan said he was opposed to the suggestion of his colleague, Senator Norris (D-Neb.) for a constitutional amendment limiting judicial appointments to a fixed number of years.

Drive for Support

Followers of the court reorganization battle saw the start of a carefully timed administration move for nationwide support in Cummings' assertion that the Roosevelt program was moderate and constitutional.

This strategy, similar to that of the opposition, would bring expressions from public figures at a fixed number of years.

Court Will Review
AAA Refunds CaseAgrees to Consider Act
Prohibiting Payments
Under Invalidated Act

Washington—(P)—The supreme court agreed today to review litigation over the law prohibiting refunds of invalidated agricultural adjustment administration processing and floor stock taxes unless proof is given that the levies have not been shifted to the consumers.

The justices consented to pass on an appeal filed by the Anniston, Ala., Manufacturing company in its effort to recover $270,000 paid the government. The company lost in the fifth circuit court of appeals.

The court agreed to review this controversy after meeting briefly to hand down one minor decision. It adjourned for two weeks, thereby delaying decisions on constitutionality of the Washington law establishing minimum wages for women and on whether the 1933 congressional resolution abrogating payment of obligations in gold applied to bullion as well as coin.

Action also was postponed for at least two weeks on a petition for reconsideration of its recent 4 to 1 decision upholding the New York unemployment insurance law which supplements the federal social security act.

The court refused to review litigation brought by five Texas rice millers and by the Sheridan, Wyo., flouring mills attacking constitutionality of the "windfall tax" provisions of the 1936 revenue act.

Two Killed, One Hurt
In Roadhouse Attack

Heflin, Ala.—(P)—Two masked gunmen killed two men and wounded a woman and a man in a roadhouse near here late last night, but Sheriff W. T. Prestridge said today the shooting was "no holdup."

Although "somewhat mystified" by the tragedy in the nearby Muscadine community, Sheriff Prestridge predicted arrests "within the next three or four days, because it looks like jealousy and I think I know who did it."

Black stockholders pulled over their heads, the gunmen "kicked in" the roadhouse door, uttered only the words: "Put your hands up," and then opened fire on seven persons in the building.

At Madison, Mrs. Federman said her husband appeared worried when he left home for work early Saturday morning. That was the last time she saw him alive, she added.

Mrs. Ruth Jean McDonald, 20, and comely, fell with a bullet through the abdomen, and physicians at an Anniston, Ala., hospital offered little hope for her recovery.

They were reported to have offered $500,000 for Sandringham house which King George V, whose favorite residence it was, left outright to Edward.

Despite his sister's failure to shake Windsor's determination to marry Mrs. Simpson at the first opportunity, she was believed to have met with more success in clearing up the self-exiled monarch's troubled financial affairs.

Says China Must Regain
Her Lost Territories

Nanking—(P)—China must recover her lost territories and re-cover those now threatened to hold her place in the world, former Premier Wang Ching-Wei boldly told the executive committee of the nation's dominant political party today.

That is the most important issue facing the country and the Kuomintang—nationalist party—Wang asserted before the third plenary session of the committee in his key address.

Speaking in the elaborately protected party headquarters. Wang urged the party to "bring the communists to reason" by launching a minimum wage for women and on whether the 1933 congressional resolution abrogating payment of obligations in gold applied to bullion as well as coin.

Action also was postponed for at least two weeks on a petition for reconsideration of its recent 4 to 1 decision upholding the New York unemployment insurance law which supplements the federal social security act.

Fleeing Prisoners Kidnap 2 Officials
In Escape From North Carolina Farm

Raleigh, N. C.—(P)—Four or more prisoners kidnapped a captain and a crewman at Caledonia prison farm in Halifax county this morning and escaped in the direction of the Virginia state line.

Waynick said word of the uprising was given by Charles Creech, of the Caledonia staff, who had to drive some 10 or 15 miles to Halifax to a telephone.

Identity of the escaping prisoners, and the exact number that took part, were not known here at mid-day.

Our information is that Hinton and Roberts were overpowered somewhere up around the headquarters near the center of the farm," Waynick said. "We do not know whether there is other trouble or not yet."

There are some 400 white prisoners at Caledonia.

About nine or ten years ago there was a rebellion there of such a serious nature that national guard troops were sent to quell it but in recent years there have been no serious outbreaks.

The big prison farm is located on the Roanoke river in northeastern

North Carolina, some 50 miles from Virginia.

Radios have been purchased for four highway police, the sheriff, undersheriff, the sheriff's office and for John Riger, highway department patrol superintendent.

Enlargement of the Winnebago county transmitter at Oshkosh from a 100 watt to a 400 watt station also will be completed today or tomorrow, according to Louis Bonini, chairman of the Outagamie county radio committee.

Edison 5th Grade Class Had Special Valentine House

Because valentine day fell on Sunday, Appleton school children distributed their missives last week at the close of school. Among the featured boxes in various schools was the special heart shaped building prepared for fifth graders at the Edison Grade school. Two students of Roosevelt Junior high school built the house.

Special lights were installed for valentine day celebrations with the heart-shaped windows emitting the slight glare. A large paper streamer awning was built above the home to give the entire scene a glamorous effect.

Fifth graders recently completed a study of farm, mineral and forest products and constructed large maps showing just where the various products were raised and obtained in the north central states. Samples of products were brought to school by the children and exhibited.

Iowa Man Facing Trial After He Admits Slaying

Roadhouse Manager Accused of Dynamite Slaying of Wife

Iowa City, Iowa—(P)—Walter "Dusty" Rhodes, 31, Iowa City roadhouse manager, state investigation bureau officers said, confessed the dynamite slaying of his wife, was in a Johnson cell jail today awaiting formal charges.

W. W. Akers, bureau chief, said Rhodes confessed the slaying after his arrest Saturday at Tama, Iowa, where he attended funeral services for his wife, Mabel, 31.

The bureau chief said Rhodes, who has worked with orchestras in and near Iowa City for several years, recently took a double indemnity insurance policy on his wife, naming himself as the beneficiary.

Rhodes was brought here yesterday, and Akers said he would be formally charged with murder today.

His wife, the mother of two children, was decapitated in the basement of the Rhodes home last Tuesday when a shotgun exploded.

Akers said Rhodes confessed he arranged that his wife would pull the trigger of the dynamite-loaded shotgun by telling her the firing pin had not been working and that he wanted her to see if it had been fixed.

When Mrs. Rhodes pulled the trigger more than half of her head, her left hand, part of her right hand and part of her right shoulder were blown off.

Rhodes told officers he had promised to marry another woman to whom he was financially indebted.

Akers said that Rhodes confessed he had plotted the slaying for two months. He admitted, Akers said, to have purchased two sticks of dynamite and loading one shotgun shell with about a tablespoonful of dynamite.

Labor Board Hit At C.I.O. Meeting

Badger A. F. L. Executive Group Assailed at Milwaukee Confab

Milwaukee—(P)—Organizers for the John Lewis committee for industrial organization vigorously attacked the executive board of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor yesterday for its attitude toward the Lewis group.

Emil Costello, Kenosha, a member of the state federation's executive board and presiding officer at a meeting of leaders of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Tin and Steel Workers, said the negotiations averting a strike at the Harnischfeger plant there "is our answer to the executive board."

At its last meeting here in January, Costello said, "it condemned the C. I. O. as 'irresponsible' and called them 'fly-by-nights seeking to tear down the labor movement.' This agreement is ample proof that we are organizing for collective bargaining and not for strikes."

The association is an affiliate of the C. I. O. and its subsidiary group, the steel workers organizing committee. The meeting was attended by representatives from northern Illinois as well as Wisconsin. Resolutions were sent to congress and President Roosevelt upholding the president's proposed court reorganization.

What's New at the Library

THE opening of Chicago's first railroad in 1848, Fort Sumter and the death of Prince Albert in 1861, the assassination of Czar Alexander, the rise of Standard Oil in America and of the social leadership of the Prince of Wales in England in 1881, America entering the war and Lenin entering Petrograd in 1917, the world depression in 1933—these are some of the highlights presented in an ingenious method in "The Hundred Years" by Philip Guedalla, choice of the Literary Guild for February which is now on order at Appleton Public Library. The last hundred years of Britain and the Western world are here put down in an impressive and decorative manner beginning with Victoria's becoming queen of England at dawn June 20, 1837, and continuing on down to the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration in this country.

James Harvey Robinson died before the publication of his book "The Human Comedy," but his friend and former pupil, Harry Elmer Barnes, helped to prepare the manuscript and wrote an introduction for the volume. Like Dante, Robinson saw human beings as characters in a drama and he felt that is the function of history to use the past to dictate the future.

Compiled, as the author said, because "nobody was having enough fun," a new book of puzzles has come among us to "reclaim for playground purposes, the great open spaces between practically everybody's ears." It is "So You Like Puzzles" by Jacob Philip Rudin and has 200 examples of 44 varieties of brain benders.

The story of a curious love affair as has been unfolded for many a year and which has remained untold until now is that revealed in "Beloved Enemy" by Catherine Drinker Bowen and Barbara von Meck, the February choice of the Book-of-the-Month club which the library has ordered. It is the story of a love affair between a man and a woman who chose never to meet Nadejda von Meck, mother of 12 children, heard a piano arrangement of Tchaikovsky's symphonic fantasia, "The Tempest," and fell desperately in love with the composer without seeing him. Their correspondence is the basis for this volume, a third of which abounds with musical technicalities.

Those interested in writing will find some tips on how to write movie scripts in the book, "Four Star Scripts," edited by Lorraine Noble, which is now being catalogued at the library. It gives the conditions which the producer must observe in selecting scripts and a description of popular types of story, also tells the fundamentals of script writing and a number of technical terms and their use and meaning. The volume also includes the shooting scripts of "Lady for a Day," "The Story of Louis Pasteur," "It Happened One Night" and "Little Women."

"American Fiction" by Arthur Hobson Quinn, one of the newer books at the library, gives a survey of American fiction including both the novel and short story from the beginning in the late eighteenth century up to the present day. It discusses authors in the groups in which they belong logically.

An analysis of modern developments in the British system of government is contained in the book, "How Britain is Governed" by Ramsay Muir, one of England's most distinguished historians. It is the standard volume in its field in England.

A realistic rather than idealistic treatment of such social institutions as the family, school, state, public library, recreation center, health center, and church is given by Lloyd Vernon Ballard in a new book entitled "Social Institutions." The author is professor of sociology and head of the department of economics and sociology at Beloit college.

With the emphasis on safety which communities and organizations all over the country are putting on through drives, contests and slogans, some suggestions for improving the situation are to be found in the book, "Sense and Safety on the Road." Written for the average citizen, it is primarily a book on safe automobile driving.

About 60 men were in attendance at the meet from Green Bay, Appleton, Manitowoc, Sturgeon Bay, Keweenaw, Algoma, Casco, Two Rivers, Oconto Falls, East and West DePere, Shawano, Seymour, Fish Creek and New London. Helms and M. S. Zahrt, music director, attended from New London.

It was planned to meet quarterly or on special call to promote music activities in high schools in this area.

500,000 Badgers Registered Under U.S. Security Act

More Than Half of This Number Come From Milwaukee.

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington—Half a million Wisconsin workers are now on their way to receiving old-age benefits under the social security act when they get to be 65 years old.

The Social Security board, of which Arthur J. Altmeyer is president, announced today that 495,507 applications for "social security account numbers" had been filed in Wisconsin up to the latest compilation, and the cards had been issued to most of them.

In Milwaukee alone, 284,928 applications had been filed up to Jan. 15. Milwaukee ranked thirteenth in the 75 leading post offices in the number of applications received.

Madison's Place

Madison, with 17,400 applications, ranked seventy-fourth.

About one-fourth of Wisconsin's population is thus covered by the old-age benefit plan, while the country as a whole, about one-fifth is included.

From the pulpit of the Christian Assembly church at Zion, Ill., Dake explained yesterday his renewed contact with divine authority caused his jubilation. All his troubles he blamed on the ill will of the devil.

The federal court sentenced the 34-year-old minister to jail last week after he pleaded guilty to charges that he took a 16-year-old Kenosha girl on trips to Illinois.

All the benches in his clapboard church were filled and some of the faithful had to stand in the aisles to hear his farewell address. His wife, Dorothy, who has promised to leave him, closed the service by singing "They Will be done" in a duet with Mrs. Mildred Puhl.

Braddock-Louis Title Go To be Financial Success

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

Chicago—From all that I hear, I gather that the prizetight between Jimmy Braddock and Joe Louis will be pulled off in Chicago next summer according to plan, and that it will be a social and financial success.

On the social side, however, it might deteriorate rapidly and violently into a distinct failure not to say civil commotion and tragedy in the not improbable event of the Negro's defeat at the hands of a superior workman. There is a choice between the public arena of soldier field and Mr. Lou Comiskey's White Sox Baseball park and the pull at present is toward the ball yard on the ground that Mr. Comiskey, as faithful taxpayer, should not be done out of a profitable evening's rental through the competition of an amphitheatre belonging to the community.

However, Mr. Comiskey's plant lies in the heart of a colored neighborhood which was the scene of memorable carnage some years ago and it is no general reflection on the sportsmanship of the Negroes to point out that this fight in these surroundings will produce unusual friction. The last war between the races in Chicago began with a small incident, and a casual stabbing or punch on the shoot might again arouse trouble beyond the control of sportsmanship even of the best.

County Board to Hear Plan to Buy Land for Indians

Year Around Jobs Being Planned at Three Case Plants

Production Speeded Up After Prolonged Shutdown Due to Strike

Racine—(P)—J. I. Case company executives divided their time today between stepping up production after the recent shutdown and furthering a plan to provide year around employment.

H. H. Biggert, vice president of the company whose three plants here were shut down more than three months by a labor dispute, said 4,000 employees in factories here and at Dixon and Rockford, Ill., were affected by the employment setup.

The plan first became operative under NRA, but is being continued, Biggert said, because study has shown that by calculating annual production for a normal year, operations peaks can be leveled if products are stored during slack sales seasons.

Biggert said it was hoped to provide employment for 50 weeks of 40 hours each in the calendar year.

In rush seasons the sales department will draw from the stored surplus rather than fill orders by speeding up production, he said. Previous to the NRA, the company operated about nine months of the year.

The annual normal Racine pay roll, Biggert estimated is $4,500,000.

Full Production Friday

Biggert said full production, with 2,100 at work in the shops, would be reached here by Friday or earlier. The farm machinery plants were shut down from last Oct. 27 to last Thursday by a dispute with the United Automobile Workers union.

Francis Wendl, union counsel, stated the settlement of the controversy would result in early dismissal of the suit filed by the union charging the company with violation of the state labor code.

At a meeting of the Independent Employers' council, which fought the labor dispute, its president, Axel J. Mickelsen, turned over the gavel to Frank Saborske, union president, Saturday. Mickelsen said a discussion with the council members, Saborske and F. H. Michel, state organizer for the auto workers, was "friendly and instructive."

The council meeting was called to discuss the council's status under the bargaining agreement between the company and the union. Mickelsen said the session brought an agreement calling for a meeting of committees of both organizations at which they would attempt to reach some understanding on the question.

"New Blood" Needed

"If the constitution is to remain a living document and the law is to serve the needs of a vital and growing nation, it is essential that new blood be infused into our judiciary."

The weekend brought little change in the congressional lineup on the issue. While Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) was denouncing the president's proposal as "a mere stop-gap which establishes a dangerous precedent," Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis.) was voicing support of the program.

Away from the capital Horace D. Taft, brother of William Howard Taft, called the president's message "an insult to the justices." Reed Smoot, former Republican senator from Utah, said victory for the Roosevelt program "would be a long step toward defeat of democratic principles."

SUCCUMBS AT 89

Case No. 27. Mr. A. L. Severe

pains over the abdominal region, and advised to have an operation.

This was given to us by the patient upon entering our Clinic as a matter of record. Patient was told of what results this Clinic has with cases of that kind. Putting himself under my personal supervision on April 4, 1936 and adjusted according to our Neurocalometer and Stereoscopic findings and dismissed on May 10, 1936, well and all symptoms and pain entirely eliminated. Patient well satisfied, last report he is doing all his work and is enjoying the best of health.

Flemmons said: "That between the most surprising thing was common sense and plain dealing."

The Chiropractic service at this Clinic is distinctly different from that of any other office because it is the lengthened shadow of the personality directing it, and that personality is different. It is different by birth, by training, by education, or reason of its determination to serve the public better and better as time adds knowledge and skill, and it is different by reason of the kind of cases it has handled. Abraham Lincoln said: "I will read and learn and perhaps my chance will come." I suggest to you who are sick, investigate the 20th century health science.

BIG LITIGANTS

It is four years ago that the country went through the big blizzard of heavy law suits filed by Bishop Cannon and Utility Magnate Doherty. These gentlemen simply knew no modesty in their demands.

Others there were who served summons right and left demanding, one, two, and occasionally three hundred thousand dollars, but the great leaders, the Napoleons of litigation, never started anything less than a half million dollars, and soared from there up to several millions.

And the odd thing about it is that they have both gone through the wringers at the same time.

Mr. Doherty used a rapid fire blunderbus in his warfare which was aimed principally at a Kansas City newspaper which had dared to question the financial soundness of the great tycoon. Doherty sued for several million dollars damages to his tender reputation and also subsidized a competing and failing newspaper in the same town that it might ever remain a thorn in the side of his enemy.
The suit came to nothing and Mr. Doherty has himself just tendered a little over a million dollars in settlement of claims against him attributable to the same sort of operations for which he denounced and sued the Kansas City paper.

Bishop Cannon's suits were more colorful and they clouded the skies like a flight of seven year locusts in Egypt. One of the simplest ones has just terminated at Washington. It was for a mere $500,000.00 damages against Congressman Tinkham who declared the worthy Bishop had corruptly handled political funds entrusted to his care in 1928. When the evidence was concluded the Judge ruled there was nothing for a jury to decide because the undisputed facts showed the Bishop to be quite as corrupt as the Congressman had declared.

These law suits, nevertheless, supreme and blundering though they were, sort of characterized a day when things were going to the bad with the gentlemen affected. The Bishop was losing the money coined out of religious intolerance and the Utility Magnate was losing a source of income based on the same sort of soundness with which children make mud pies and put them on the market.

They knew their suits were worthless but they thought it best to whittle as they walked through the cemetery.

HUMANITY GOES FORWARD

A sunken garden, lavish flower beds,
a chapel, playgrounds and tennis courts, improvements that will cost three-quarters of a million dollars, are planned for the Chicago State Hospital for the Insane.

Patients will help to create the gardens, will find some measure of tranquillity in the chapel, relaxation in competitive sports and will build physical health which is so closely related to mental health.

"Beauty is good medicine" for the insane, declares Dr. Edward F. Dombrowski, the managing officer of the hospital.

Dr. Dombrowski's statement is supported by the experience of government agencies charged with the care of World war veterans who are mental cases. Work in fields and gardens, supervised play and music have worked wonders in restoring thousands of these men to mental health.

Illinois' legislators deserve praise for their action in making money available for the purpose. They are setting a worthy example.

The insane present a problem that cannot be avoided. Generally speaking, the various states handle the problem in commendable fashion. True, there are instances of overcrowding in institutions and, too frequently, jails serve as detention quarters. But the insane are treated in humane fashion. Illinois is showing the way in an even more enlightened handling of the problem.

Perhaps nothing demonstrates more clearly the fact that civilization does advance than the changed attitude of the community toward its mentally sick.

Only a few generations ago the insane were classed with criminals, were tortured and starved.

Greater understanding, greater humanity applied to the problem of the insane mark new mileposts along the path of progress.

FOOLISH TALK

Labor, as a conversational topic, ranks well toward the top nowadays. The strikes, speculation concerning the purposes of the Administration, the problems posed if minimum wage legislation is to be adopted, supply incentive for endless talk.

Much of the talk is without value.
Some of it is important, when it is given wide circulation. Some of it is downright foolish. Recently a radio interviewer was discussing minimum wage proposals with a senator for the benefit of a great audience. He asked the senator whether $3,600 could be considered a suitable minimum wage. The senator said he thought it could be so considered.

It is that sort of talk which is dangerous because it is silly.

Even in previous periods of greatest prosperity, the average wage has been in the neighborhood of $1,200. Approximately a fifth of the workers earned less than that amount.

Workers are paid largely as they produce. If and when minimum wage legislation becomes effective, employers will be forced to develop new technique to utilize labor profitably. The more able workers will profit. Less able workers will find their employment opportunities narrowed.

If we are to have minimum wage legislation Congress will probably develop and approve it. Most members of Congress are practical men. They will study the records of experience. The only minimum wage legislation that will be worth anything will be legislation that is practical in application.

If one-fifth of the nation's workers earn less than the average wage, as is frequently stated, a worthwhile objective would be the lifting of their average to a level more closely approximating the nation's average. But they must improve their efficiency, too.

Talk of tripled wages, through legislation, is fanciful. There is nothing in the record to support the belief that industry can carry a tripled wage load. It is dangerous talk when it holds out false hopes to the uninformed.

A REASONABLE REQUEST

For nearly eight years collegiate football has been suspect. It was in 1929 that the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching leveled sensational charges, exposing and condemning what it defined as "commercialization" of athletics in American colleges.

The furore stirred by the charges still is vividly remembered. The air was filled with denials from college officials who considered the records of their institutions were reasonably clean. In other instances, improvement of conditions was quietly effected.

There is reason to believe that most of the conditions about which the Foundation complained have been cleared up.
The National Association of State Universities apparently thinks so.

The last-named group recently requested the Foundation to conduct a new survey, presumably as a preliminary to the issuing of a clean bill of health. The Foundation turned down the request, its executive committee announcing "it felt that the purposes of American higher education would be best served at this time by continuing the consultative and advisory cooperation, always available upon request, which it has maintained for many years in this field as in other fields of college and university teaching and administration."

The committee seems to be begging the question. The Foundation brought charges. The colleges apparently believe they have corrected the conditions about which the Foundation complained.

If the colleges have done so, they are entitled to the clean bill of health.

WOMEN MUSICIANS

Quite a few persons, mostly women, are rising in wrath to answer Jose Iturbi, Spanish composer and pianist. That courageous (or reckless) gentleman was quoted as saying women never would achieve greatness in music or sports.

Perhaps women should not let their anger get the better of them until they know how Iturbi defines greatness. But it is hard to be calm about this:

"I am glad to have them play and sing, of course, because it gives them a change from their domestic life. I wouldn't have them kept in a cage all the time. But their efforts, while often praiseworthy and occasionally reaching real artistry, never achieve greatness."

Out come pencils and paper to make lists of women who have achieved greatness in music, both vocal and instrumental.
If the pencils hesitate a little, and the lists don't grow rapidly, a woman orchestra conductor can explain.

"If women are not prominent in music," she points out, "it is not because they lack talent but because they have not had the opportunity to demonstrate it."

In the peak year, 1929, American tourists spent a total of more than $800,000,000 for travel abroad, approximately four times the average annual war debt receipts at their maximum.

A federal survey showed workers in Alabama iron ore mines earned an average of $722 in 1935.

More than 2,000,000 patents have been granted to American and foreign inventors during the past 100 years.

If you get your way
The court'll be too.

To John L. Lewis

You've won your battle,

Or did you sign the papers
Because of the flu?

To Governor Murphy

You settled the strike
In a manner quite snorty.
We'll be hearing from you
In nineteen forty.

To the Boss

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

SOME ONE WHO LOOKS LIKE YOU

Some one who looks like you
Passed by today;
Some one whose gaze was true.
Whose smile was gay.

And suddenly there was.
Where no light shone.
A golden light because Of beauties known.

Transplanted by my thought.
Close by my side.
You journeyed, and I sought
To match your pride.

Walking with lifted head.
The hopeful blue
Of heaven overspread
With dreams of you!

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

TO MY PIGEON

Well educated people a few years ago regarded hygiene as a matter for doctors and morbid business to bother about. Today most intelligent folk recognize that ill health is an important cause of failure in business and professional life and in the business of life itself.

In the elementary and high schools and colleges, however, hygiene is still a joke, being generally taught by instructors who have had little or no training for it, and becoming a serious bore only at examination time.

Correspondents send to this column from 500 to 1,000 questions a day, and these questions from month to month and from year to year give a fair cross-section of the popular knowledge of physiology, hygiene and the ways of health and sickness. The queries come from individuals of all walks of life and there seems to be uniformity of ignorance of self among all classes.

Of course, people who are adequately informed may not submit questions at all; it might be presumed. Yet nearly every day there are letters from doctors, dentists, clergymen, teachers, lawyers, publishers, editors, writers, explorers, politicians, soldiers, mothers, librarians, hired propagandists and just plain nuts whose purpose is to pat me on the back or else to give me a k. i. t. p. for something I have said in this column. So I believe a doctor's mail bag gives him a good idea of what people think and know about health.

Proposed Bills Of Much Interest In Fox Valley

Changes in Workmen's Compensation Among Industrial Measures

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau) Madison — Legislation with a direct interest for the industrial Fox River Valley, both workers and employers, has been introduced in the state legislature during the past few weeks. Among the bills, which if enacted into law would affect valley manufacturing interests, are several relating to workmen's compensation.

The first this session, presented by Assemblyman Emil Costello, FLPF member from Kenosha, would include all manufacturing or mercantile establishments with one or more employees, or practically all, under the provisions of the law requiring compensation to injured workmen. As the law now stands, all employers of three or more persons are included under the workmen's compensation act.

Elmer C Peterson, Poplar Progressive, has introduced a bill which would make employees suffering injury from sun stroke, heat prostration, or heat exhaustion eligible for compensation under the workmen's compensation law. The bill reads, "any employee who gives proof that he suffered sunstroke, heat prostration, or heat exhaustion, resulting in any injury during the time for which he was employed and rendered service shall constitute prima facie evidence that such accident or disease arose and grew out of and was incidental to employment."

Ask Extension

A bill of Assemblyman John T. Putchard, (Prog), Eau Claire, asks that the time limit for the setting aside by the industrial commission of compromises or agreements in industrial compensation cases be extended from one to six years.

Elmer Genzmer, (Dem), Mayville, has introduced a bill in the lower house under the terms of which the industrial commission of Wisconsin would investigate violations of code regulations on the complaint of employees.

The bill stipulates that any employee in a written complaint to the commission of a violation regulating his employment, if the complaint is approved in writing by an officer of any labor organization, the mayor of the community, or the assemblyman or state senator of the district, can obtain an immediate investigation by commission inspectors. The name of the complainant will be kept secret, the bill provides.

Require Insurance

Bill 21 A authored by Assemblyman John L. Sieb, Racine Progressive, would require that all employers insure their workers one day rest out of every seven. The bill would make it mandatory for an employee to have 24 consecutive hours of rest every seven days.

Assemblyman Genzmer has introduced another bill calling for the prohibition of reduction in wages for faulty workmanship of the employee under any conditions. The measure would nullify any agreements or deductions entered into by the worker and his employer regarding penalties for defective workmanship.

Senator Allan J. Bushy, (Prog), West Allis has offered two bills of interest to valley industry. The first, providing for a three year exemption from taxation of new machinery and manufacturing equipment was indefinitely postponed by the state senate a few days ago. Bushy's other bill, providing for heavy penalties for the payment of wages in "rubber" checks had a public hearing last week and will come up for action in the upper house soon.

Senator Bushy told the senate committee at the hearing that he had introduced the bill on behalf of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor and that it was a preventive measure for the protection of workers.

Double Penalty

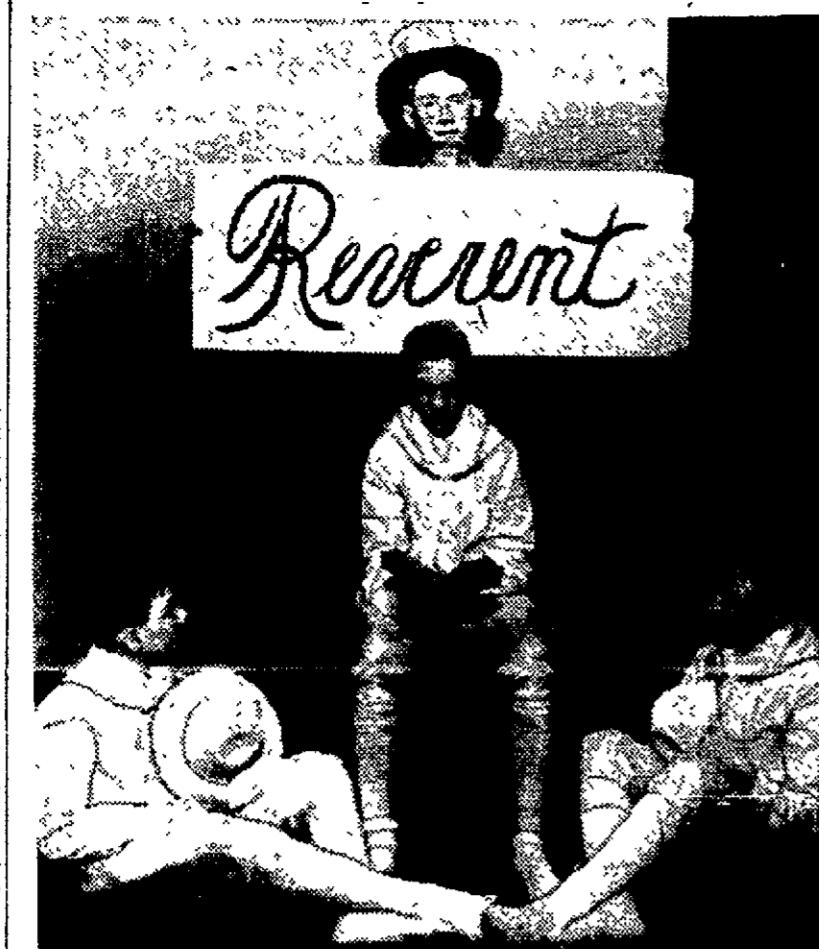

The measures would provide that anyone who issues rubber check in payment of wages shall be subject to a penalty of double the amount of the check, and liability would not be escaped by bankruptcy or liquidation. Labor, the author explained, was not so much interested in the double indemnity as it is in keeping employers from issuing checks when there are no funds in his bank to honor them.

One of the members of the senate committee on judiciary which heard the bill, Senator Herman J. Severson of Waupaca county, suggested at the hearing that the criminal statutes could be amended to include all bank checks issued and thus provide protection for workers.

Recommended for passage is the Kanpenberg bill restricting salaries paid by corporations which fail to pay at least 5 per cent dividends to stockholders. The bill, presented by Senator Roland E. Kanpenberg (Prog) Wausau, prohibits compensation to any officer or employee in excess of $5,000 when the return to stock and bond holders is less than 3 per cent. $6,000 a year on salaries when dividends do not exceed 5 per cent. Those firms paying dividends of 6 per cent or over would be allowed to fix salaries without interference.

Of course, paramount in interest for both employers and employees

DRAMATIZATION OF BOY SCOUT LAW

Dramatization of a scout law that the "Scout is Reverent" featured the third annual Valley Council Boy Scout circus at Alexander gymnasium. Portrayal of the law was carried out by three groups with some scouts showing reverence to the flag, another scout kneeling at his bedside saying prayers and third group showing a boy reading to two attentive listeners. In the picture above Clarence Miller, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller, Sr., is pictured holding the sign announcing the scout law. Arthur Malchow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Malchow, is the scout reading the book. The listeners are James Stumpf, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Stumpf, 1335 S. Oneida street and right, Donald Knaack, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Knaack, 535 E. Lincoln street. The boys are members of troop 11 of McKinley Junior High school and of troop 25 of Sacred Heart Catholic church. (Post-Crescent Photo) in the Fox River valley and elsewhere in the state is the labor dispute bill, engrossed by the assembly last week, and now before the finance committee. Reports are rampant that the opponents of the bill will put up a strenuous battle to amend it when it reaches the senate floor, where the progressive majority is in no wise certain and the outcome cannot be accurately predicted as in the lower house.

Leading the fight for the passage of the bill in the upper house will be Senator Herman J. Severson, joint author of the measure with Assemblyman David Sigman of Manitowoc county.

List 75 Bills

Madison — Taxation and pensions, fair trade practices and corporation election practices head the subjects of 75 bills scheduled for public hearings by legislative committee this week.

One of the tax proposals is that of Senators Walter J. Rush (Prog), Menasha and Philip Nelson (Rep), levying upon gifts, estates and corporate dividends to raise $3,000,000 annually for aids to high schools.

Another measure, by the joint committee on finance, would tax gifts and transfers of property to provide funds for relief.

The assembly public welfare committee will hear six plans for liberalization of laws relating to reimbursement of counties by the state for old age assistance and of requirements for obtaining such assistance.

Assemblyman Peter Hemmy (Prog), Humboldt, wants the state to pay 90 per cent of the pensions instead of 90. Assemblyman Alfred Ludvigsen (Rep), Hartland, would ban employment by the state of pensioners receiving pensions totaling $40 for an unmarried person or $70 for a married couple.

$70 A Couple

Assemblyman Michael Hall (Prog), Superior, has a bill to repeal laws allowing the counties to take over property of persons receiving old age aid and permitting recovery from the individual's estate of all pensions paid him. Hall also would allow pensions to bring an individual's income up to a minimum of $50 a month, or $70 for a couple.

H. S. Halvorsen (Prog) assemblyman from Westby, has a proposal regarding transfer of the pensioner's property to the county, to exempt a homestead worth up to $5,000.

The unfair trade practices bill by Senator E. M. Rowlands (Prog), Cambria prohibits discrimination in prices charged by manufacturers or dealers in commodities.

The election practice measure, offered by Assemblyman Arthur Hitt (Prog), Alma, sets a limit of $15,000 on expenditures of state central party committees and other limits on various candidates, requires filing of names of a five man personal campaign committee for any candidate for an office representing more than one county, and orders reports by candidates of the cost of mailing out speeches in envelopes exempt from postage charges. The latter provision would affect candidates for federal office.

Other Hearings

Other bills up for hearing would set up a state department of radio intelligence for apprehension of criminals and promotion of highway safety.

Declare a state emergency still exists because of last year's drought and extend emergency legislation on foreclosures.

Increase the penalty for bank frauds to 15 to 20 years imprisonment.

Create tenure of position rights for public school teachers.

Raise from $50,000 to $100,000 each the annual appropriations for advertising Wisconsin attractions and state dairy products.

The assembly agriculture committee will consider the resolution of Nicholas Bichler (Dem) Beloit, asking a general investigation of the state department of agriculture and markets.

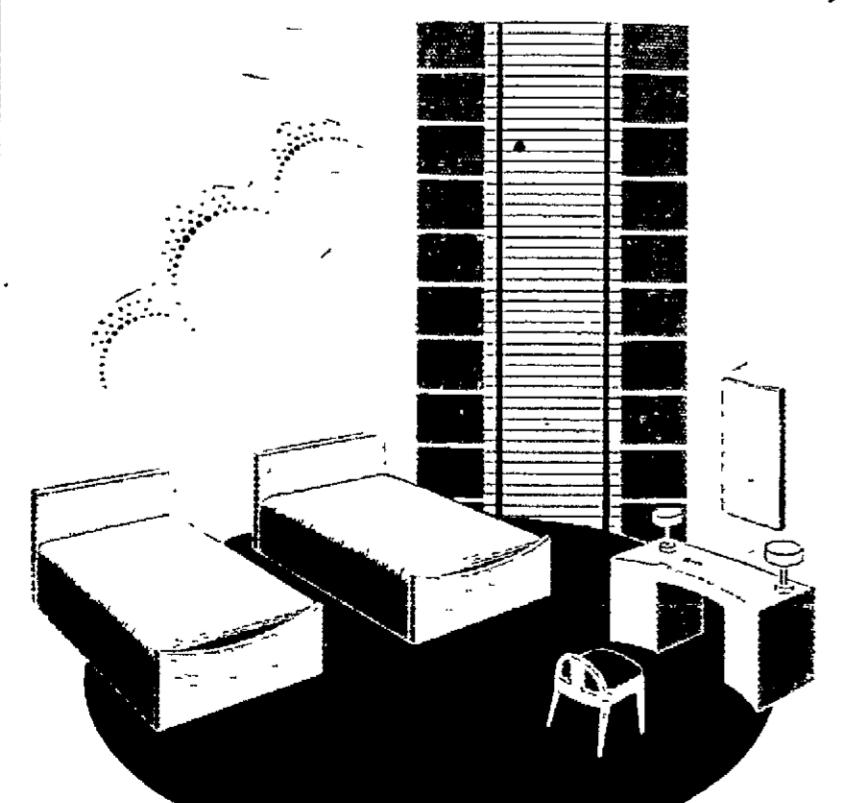

Assemblyman Michael Hall (Prog), Superior, has a bill to repeal laws allowing the counties to take over property of persons receiving old age aid and permitting recovery from the individual's estate of all pensions paid him. Hall also would allow pensions to bring an individual's income up to a minimum of $50 a month, or $70 for a couple.

Large Crowd Thrilled by Scout Law Dramatization At Third Annual Circus

Impressive ceremonies dramatizing the 12 scout laws coupled with a pseudo William Tell act and numerous clown antics thrilled a big crowd at the third annual Valley County Boy Scout circus Saturday night at the Alexander gymnasium. The audience included more than 500 adults and 500 Boy Scouts.

Delmar Schwaller, 12, of St. Therese troop 5 was crowned "Queen of the Boy Scouts for 1937" after more than 15 "ravishing" beauties paraded in regular Atlantic City fashion across the floor and took their bow in the center of the stage under three spotlights.

William Tell Act

The climax of the evening was reached during the archery act when one scout nonchalantly roamed to the center of the floor carrying a large red apple. An archer meanwhile was fixing his bow at the other end of the floor but the crowd, although experiencing a few minutes of uneasiness, was fooled for the lights were extinguished and the William Tell participants disappeared.

Menasha troop's Indian act at the close of the circus again gained the applause of the crowd as the scouts went through an Indian war dance while garbed in real Indian fashion with loin cloths and head dresses. This act concluded the circus after the Indian chief gave the scout benediction and they joined in one rousing "Good Night."

Credit for a successful evening must go to the arrangements committee which kept action at full pitch throughout the evening with one act closely following another.

Three spotlights were constantly kept on the participants with action usually going on in three rings at the same time.

For a while something was missing and deteriorated from regular circus atmosphere but soon songs were played over a loud speaker system in place of the circus brass band and calliope.

Scouts Are Loyal

The most serious note of the circus evening was hit midway in the program when scouts dramatized in pantomime fashion their 12 scout laws. The scouts were all in white and depicted the rules of being trustworthy, loyal helpful, friendly courteous, kind obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave clean and reverent.

Although the scouts illustrated their activities by helping people across the street doing dishes for mother, tipping hats to ladies, facing dangers and cleansing their bodies, the vast crowd was absolutely quiet while they showed reverence in three methods, a boy reading the bible while two brothers sat near him at attention; saluting the flag; a boy kneeling at his bedside saying night prayers.

SOTAL Leads March

Amid a bevy of flags, the scouts made their grand entry with the Oney Johnson post Sons of the American Legion drum and bugle corps in the lead. Pyramid building was next in order with the scouts quickly obeying orders and formulating human pyramids with the boys falling to the floor at the conclusion of each part of the act.

Little time was wasted by the scouts as they put on the wall scaling act after which members of cub packs from the council paraded about the floor and showed handicraft models which they had made. The cubs formed a living circle and gave the cub yell at the end of the piece of paper which a fellow entertainer held at arm's length.

After the Indian rituals were performed by Neva-ha scouts, the circus ended and became a promise for the future. Manipulation of spotlights throughout the evening left little to be desired and the vast crowd seemed pleased with the way all acts were run off in trigger precision.

THE fourteenth group of the four best loved girls on the Lawrence college campus will be honored at the colonial banquet, one of the school's loveliest traditions, at 6:30 Tuesday evening at the Conway hotel. Hollywood News And Gossip By Robbin Coon Hollywood—The benign old gentleman, between sniffles, insisted he ought to die.

At least Boris Karloff, who was present somewhere beneath the benign old gentleman's exterior, insisted for him. The nice old boy, central figure in "Night Key," really had nothing to say about it. He was merely pawn to be jugged by scenarists, producer, director and (Karloff hoped) by Karloff.

His fate would have to be decided pretty soon, too. For one thing, they were well into the picture. For another, the sniffles belonged to Karloff, not to the old man, and Karloff, not long out of a hospital bed, was working on a draughty, clammy frigid sound stage.

"He's got to die," said Karloff between scenes. "He's a sympathetic character—sniffy old and nearly blind. He's honest, and the things he does are not intended to harm anyone but merely to get back his rightful share from the man who robbed him of his invention. It's not his fault that gangsters step in. And if he doesn't die—sniff—what can be done with him? Have him shake hands with his old enemy and live happily—sniff—ever after?"

I suggested facetiously that perhaps the old enemy could present him with a Seeing-Bye Dog. Karloff, a snuffle overtaking a chuckle, croaked:

"Not so loudly. A writer might be hiding under a stone and hear you. Ah, but there's the villain of the piece, the producer. Excuse me. I'm going to speak to him about this cold stage."

Karloff and the benign old gentleman left together to confer with Bob Presnell, while set attendants trundled into Karloff's canvas dressing hut an army cot. Over it they set up an arc light for warmth. Karloff and Presnell huddled, and then Karloff had to do a scene.

After it he joined me in the hut, where the heat was good but dangerous—when you left it. He wouldn't lie down, although he was supposed to. He insisted on being courteous, which was more than I'd have been, wheezing and sniffing and make-up forbidding a handkerchief. There ought to be a limit to this show-must-go-on thing.

But Karloff was happy, in a way. This picture was his first in six years that couldn't possibly be called a "horror" film. As a matter of record, he said, the only strictly "horror" stuff he had done was the Frankenstein duo. The rest were just mystery pictures...

"But the way," I asked, "did you get anything done about some heat?"

"Forgot it," he chuck-sniffed. "All we talked about was the way the picture should end."

Communication Plays Depend Upon Entries

COMMUNICATION PLAYS
(Copyright: 1937; By Ely Culbertson)

Communication plays deal with entries. An entry card is a card which will win a trick, allowing the player to lead to the next trick. Since a finesse depends upon the leading coming from a certain hand, plays which deal with entries are among the most important in bridge.

In Figure 1, you will see how an established long suit winner may be an entry. Since both North and South hold a long card in diamonds, on the fourth round of the suit North's ♦ 7 is an entry, for it will win over South's ♦ 3.

A ruffing entry is automatically produced whenever a player wins a trick by ruffing. In Figure 2 you will notice that it is desirable for North to lead to a finesse in spades. In order to obtain the lead he ruffs South's ace of diamonds, although that card would have won the trick if unruled. By ruffing North does not gain a trick, but an entry.

Appraising a Finesse

There are safe finesses and dangerous finesses. Since both types often occur in the same hand, it behoves declarer to separate the sheep from the goats.

The bidding: South - West - North - East
1 spade Double Spades Pass Pass

East was tempted to bid four hearts over what he recognized as a shut-out three spade bid, but, feeling that his partner might have shaded his take-out double because of opponents' part-score, decided that discretion was the better course.

West was not crazy about any opening lead that offered itself. A trump appeared the only safe one, but he was afraid that the tempo which probably would be abandoned on that lead might be more serious than losing a trick in one of the other suits. He therefore bravely pushed out his fourth highest heart. East won with the ace, and correctly returned the 30-cent taboo. Declarer refused to risk the opening up of the club suit, in which the play of the queen might result, and merely took the precaution of covering East's club with the nine spot, to insure that the lead would pass into West's hand. West won

YOUNG PUPILS CONDUCT 'PET AND TOY SHOP'

New London—Several weeks ago First grade pupils at Lincoln school read about a "Pet and Toy Shop" in their first grade reader. So they decided to have one of their own which is shown above. Shirley Hote is at the telephone and Joyce Miller and Joan Prahl are waiting to be shown a cart by Billie Ziebar, the shopkeeper. At first the children brought toys and pets to school and then they made a scrap book of pets and toys and made posters and pictures, some of which are hanging in the shop. After that they built some new toys of wood and cardboard and modeled animals of clay. (Post-Crescent Photo)

4 More Field Goals Would Have Placed Team at Top

New London—With only the margin of four field goals between them and undisputed first place in the Northeastern Wisconsin conference, the New London basketball five is pointing to a thrilling game with the present champs, West DePere, here Friday evening. The invaders have won seven and lost two and are tied for first place with Shawano.

The Stacymen have lost five and won four. Dame fortune has dealt the same raw deal as in last fall's football battles. They were defeated by Kaukauna 23 to 24 by West DePere 18 to 19, and Shawano 22, 23 to 24 and 24 to 25. The only real lucking the boys have taken was at the hands of Menasha 25 to 40.

Except for the previous 1-point win over Menasha, 24 to 23, the Red and White have won easily, 16 to 25 over Kaukauna, 29 to 35 over Clintonville and as recently as last Friday, 23 to 28 over Neenah. Not to mention the 45 to 31 trimming they handed Oshkosh high in non-conference play.

No other team in the Western division has shown such close scores and could any one of them donate but four trifling baskets to the New London squad the Stacymen would stand undisputed at the top with eight wins and only one loss.

Keith Prahl cracked a high 606 series for the Tavern team in their winning game with scores of 194, 180 and 237.

The high scorers were erratic with Art Lasch on the Brews team hitting a series of 248, 155 and 178 for a 581 series, on the Tavern team C. Polaski topped 210, 146 and 176 for series of 532 and Gordon Smith jumped from 167, 231 and 159 for a total of 577.

The match results:

Compromise Is Made in Strike Of Cab Drivers

Agreement Will Continue For 30 Days to Determine Feasibility

Menasha — Striking taxi drivers and the Checker Cab company settled their differences with a 30-day compromise agreement Saturday after negotiations had been carried on in extended sessions between representatives of both parties Friday and Saturday, according to Ervin Wheelock, secretary of the Neenah-Menasha Trades and Labor council.

The agreement involves a 15-cent cab fare for the first passenger instead of a 10-cent fare, a closed shop and a guaranteed weekly wage for drivers, to become effective at 12 o'clock midnight Wednesday, Feb. 16, and continue until 12 o'clock midnight Thursday, March 16.

List Conditions

Guaranteed weekly wage for drivers with additional commission of 30 per cent of receipts over a set amount agreed upon, the guaranteed weekly wage amounting to approximately 16 per cent increase in wages.

Closed shop agreement with a probationary period of 15 days for drivers who continued to work during the strike to give them a chance to decide to join the union.

Other terms:

Qualified freedom of drivers from being charged for accidents.

Seniority rights.

Collective bargaining agreement through Drivers union, Local No. 306.

Reinstatement of all strikers to their jobs as of Monday, Feb. 15, without discrimination.

Settlement of the strike came swiftly after Mayor Walter E. Held, Menasha, was asked to act as arbitrator in bringing the two parties together for a discussion of differences. A conference was called from Friday afternoon but no agreement could be made. Another meeting was held Saturday morning and continued until differences were settled.

Call in Others

Mayor Held, who was the driving force in the eventual compromise, called Mayor Edwin A. Kahlfs of Neenah, Edward Forkin, Menasha city attorney, John O'Leary, Neenah city attorney, in to attend the meeting. Melvin Crowley represented the cab company and Frank Kohls, Manitowoc, and George Heibing, Sheboygan, owners of the company, together with their manager, George Seiberling, represented the Checker company. Earl Clark represented the drivers together with Ervin Wheelock, trades council secretary. The conference over all lasted 12 hours and no compromise was reached until the last two hours of discussion.

Under the agreement, the cab company will raise fares for single passengers to 15 cents and continue the 10-cent fare for additional passengers. This agreement was made to allow the company to pay more money to drivers. It is expected that under the agreement, drivers will earn an average of $15 to $20 per week.

Letters from the secretary of the trades and labor council are being sent today to all affiliated unions urging that they support the Checker company which now becomes the only union cab company in the Twin Cities.

Issues Statement

In a statement issued by the secretary of the council, it was made clear that the success of the 30-day trial agreement depends on full cooperation of union members with the company. He said, "It makes me happy that these boys are going back to work with better wages and conditions. They are now members of organized labor and as such they will bring their complaints to the management of the company in orderly, organized fashion for immediate settlement. I am glad the strike is settled and we appreciate the interest shown by Mayor Held and Mayor Kahlfs. As union members, the drivers of Checker cabs will receive the full support of organized labor in Neenah and Menasha."

The Presidents vs. The Supreme Court

Seven Chief Executives Have Been Involved in Fights

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of four articles dealing with historic fights between the presidents and the supreme court.)

BY MORGAN M. BEATTY

Washington — (7) Seven presidents have entered the political prize ring against the Supreme Court ahead of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Three won their tussles by knockout blows, and the Supreme Court has delivered the same number of haymakers. One set-to was a draw.

Unfailingly the opposing contenders have accused each other of invading governmental territory belonging to somebody else. Historians agreed this is quite natural in a governmental system involving three coordinate branches.

The vandals broke into the Lotz residence last Thursday and stole guns, ammunition and various household articles. Before leaving, they broke windows and shot holes through doors, police reported.

Not only will he manage the Wausau, Wis., club of the Northern League—he signed last week—but he plans to get in there and pitch.

Kerr, 43 now, has been in retirement at his Blytheville, Ark., home since 1928, when he coached Rice institute.

"I never had a sore arm in my life," he said. "But, my legs—that's different. When the sun bears down, I'll be in there."

The plucky southpaw emerged a hero of the 1919 world series by winning two games for Chicago with the odds against him.

CARLETON college clinched the Midwest Conference basketball title Saturday night by defeating Lawrence 36 to 23 for its seventh straight victory in as many conference starts this season.

The win took away from Monmouth College its chance for a first-place tie with Carleton since the latter has but one game left on its conference schedule. For Lawrence the loss but added insult to injury and leaves the Vikes pointing for Ripon and a shot at a state championship before completing the season's schedule.

Saturday's night contest was fairly even except for the presence of Captain Wayne Sparks of the Carls who out-did his performance at Alexander Gym earlier in the season by scoring six baskets and six gift tosses to take all scoring honors for the evening. Cliff Osen led the Lawrence team with four goals from the field for eight points. Cliff Burton returning to the team after two game absence, got two from the floor and two from the foul line for six of his team's points.

Carleton, employing a varied attack of fast breaks and reverses against Lawrence's delayed style of offense, got off to an early lead with a long shot by Sparks and a short one by Larson and held a lead of at least seven points throughout the game. Osen got the Vikes' first basket on a cut across the circle. Carleton came back with a short shot by Olson and another set shot by Sparks. Osen again drove in for a one-handed shot and Martin soon after made a free toss for the Carls. Burton converted on a hook shot from the side of the court. Sparks' free throw and Olson's side shot increased the Carleton lead. Strubel got one from the circle but Sparks came back with two baskets in quick succession and the half ended with Carleton 20 to 18.

Sparks opened the second half with two free tosses. Osen chalked up two points from under the basket. The Carls added five more with Olson's basket and Sparks' basket and free throw. Burton made his second hook shot of the evening and Sparks got another long one.

Bennetts entered the game for Lawrence and counted on three from the foul line soon after. Jackson of the Vikes added a long one in the closing minutes, both teams battled for possession of the ball. Stom of Carleton breaking away for two short shots to make it 36 to 23 as the game ended.

Three Teams Entered in Marion District Meet

Marion — Although the Marion district Class C basketball tournament doesn't open until March 4, interest in the meet already is beginning to run with the entry of Amherst, Tigerton and Palaski high school teams.

Tigerton was the first school to enter, submitting a record of six wins and five losses. In the Wolf River Valley conference it shows five wins against two losses and is leading the circuit. It recently boasted of five wins in six starts and the fact it is looking better in every game.

The team is composed of Blumreich and Erdman, forwards; John Wulff, center, a former Marion player, and Schmidt and Hille, guards, with Spieth and Diemer, forwards; Hannemann, Center, and Mlaker, guard, as the reserves. C. E. Koop, of the University of Iowa is the coach.

Amherst High school's record isn't so impressive but it is pointing for a top spot in the tournament.

It has three wins against seven defeats this season. The team is led by Howen Peterson, a high-scoring

North American Ice Races are Cancelled

Saranac Lake, N. Y. — (G)—A steady downpour of rain yesterday forced cancellation of the North American speed skating championships leaving the 1937 titles unsettled.

Charles H. Goldsmith, director of the meet, in announcing the cancellation, said medals and trophies were awarded the winners of the events completed on opening day Friday. "There will be no championship awards," he announced.

Frank Stack of Sudbury, Ont., was leading the men's senior division with 40 points while Miss Maddy Horn of Beaver Dam, Wis., topped the women's senior group with 55 points. Ted Ellwood of Fort Johnson stood at the top of the intermediate division and Pat Malone of Minneapolis, was ahead in the junior group.

WISCONSIN COACH IS PLEASED AS ATHLETES PASS MID-YEAR EXAMS

MADISON—(G)—Harry A. Stuhldreher, University of Wisconsin athletic director, and his staff directed attention today to the "excellent showing by athletes" in mid-year examinations as conclusive evidence that it is not exceptionally difficult to remain eligible for intercollegiate sports at Wisconsin.

All members of varsity basketball, track, rowing and boxing squads received passing grades, Stuhldreher said. Freshmen candidates in each of these sports, he added, fared equally well, except one fresh heavyweight boxer, Tony Grabowski, who withdrew from school.

The eligibility status of five 1936 football squad members was doubtful, with the possibility they will be lost next fall through withdrawal and illness.

"Bronko" Malesevich, Joe Izquierdo, Arlin Schulz and Bob Grinde, varsity squad men last fall, have for various reasons not registered for this semester," Stuhldreher said. "Eddie Mistak, suffering from gallstones, will not reenter because of his ill health."

Stuhldreher said 70 prospective candidates for the football team earned passing grades. Two freshmen withdrew with financial difficulties and one was dropped.

Kaukauna—The Gustman Chevrolets defeated the Catholic Knights first half champions, 30-24 in the second games yesterday afternoon, leading all the way and finishing strong in the last quarter. Sager, Gustman forward, dropped back to hold Tadych, Knight's scoring ace, in check all afternoon, allowing him only one basket while scoring five himself.

Except for a forfeit against them during first-half competition, yesterday's defeat was the first given the Catholic Knights by any industrial league team.

Berg and Lang led the Knight's scoring with six points apiece. C. Koch trailed Sager with nine points and Jacobson had six for the Chevrolets.

The Goldin Metals jumped into an early lead which they never gave up in their game with the Greenwood five and won 28-13. Kilgas, Metal center, scored eight baskets, six in the last half, and one free throw to chalk up seventeen points, the best individual scoring of the afternoon. The Greenwood team's offense was curtailed to four baskets from the floor, two by Rohan and two by Landremann who added a free throw to head their scoring.

Came Close
Behind 22-18 at the half, the Knights crawled up within two points of Gustmans on two free throws by Lang as the third quarter opened, but C. Koch increased his team's lead to 25-20 with a free throw and a basket.

Verbeten scored from the floor for the Knights. C. Koch answered with a free throw and Sager then pushed through two quick field goals to put Gustmans well out in front 30-22. The Knights tried desperately to even the score in the closing minutes, but counted only once on Lang's long field goal just as the game ended.

Howde, Knights guard, was dismissed from the game in the last quarter by Referee Schwanke for committing four fouls.

Lead All the Way
The Goldin Metals clicked from the start as they won from Greenwoods, leading 5-2 at the end of the first quarter and 11-5 at half time. Kilgas made 12 of his team's 17 points in the last half. Elting, Metal guard, was forced from the game in the last half with four fouls.

There will be an addition to the regular program of two industrial league games tonight. The high school "C" squad, coached by Stanley Beguhn, manager of the Industrial league, will meet the Triangles from Appleton, a Y. M. C. A. league team, at 6:15 o'clock.

Supreme Court Opinions Hit in Cummings Speech

Frankness of Attorney General Surprising to Plan's Opponents

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — Attorney General Cummings, with that characteristic frankness which has always featured his addresses, has just made a radio speech, in effect, telling the American people that the true reason for the proposed enlargement of the supreme court is not really the age of the justices but their opinions.

This has been the basis also of the argument of the opponents of the president's plan, but they have been surprised to find direct confirmation by the man who, it is officially acknowledged, helped the president in formulating the scheme. Here are the significant quotations from Mr. Cummings' speech, which revealed more than anything else the fundamental reason why the administration wants to pack the supreme court with justices holding opinions different from the justices now on the highest court in the land:

"That the freedom of our people to direct their own destiny has been hampered, especially of late, by judicial action is scarcely open to debate. These limitations upon congressional power have brought into challenge a wide range of projects and measures overwhelmingly approved by our people."

"To confess that our institutions are not capable of serving our needs implies an admission we should be reluctant to make. Questions of vast significance are moving to their solution. The problems of America are inistent. We are a nation. Our people think as a nation. They act upon a nationwide front. Industry has long since spread its arms beyond the boundaries of single state—indeed, beyond the seas. Labor marches on the parade ground of a continent. It is idle to say that agriculture is a local matter, or a question far farmers alone. They know that nature decreed it otherwise. The winds and the dust and the drought and the floods do not heed state lines. They have unmistakable jurisdiction of their own. I trust it may not be deemed inadecate if I borrow the quaint phrase of Mr. Justice Holmes and suggest that some of our judges 'need education in the obvious.'"

In the foregoing paragraphs, the attorney general has succinctly expressed the president's objections to the recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States ever since nine justices, young and old, liberal and conservative, declared by unanimous opinion that the NRA was a violation of the constitution and that, if the people wanted such economic or social reforms, they could amend the constitution and get them.

Campaign Attack

Unfortunately, the whole tone and spirit of the attorney general's speech is that of a campaign orator answering a campaign attack. Unfortunately, too, there have been partisans in the last few days who, in attacking both the president and his plan, have used the invective of the campaign and have in truth, as Mr. Cummings says, tried to revive "the technique of the last political campaign."

But while some of the opposition to the plan to pack the supreme court has been obviously political, the big bulk of it is not partisan at all. Mr. Cummings has ignored the opposition that is coming from progressives and liberals, men like Senator Hiram Johnson of California, Senator Clark of Missouri, and Senator Burton Wheeler of Montana, to none of whom could the attorney general justly apply the following paragraph in his address:

"Why the supreme court should be granted a special exemption from the plan, no one has been able to explain. If there were no judges on that court of retirement age, there would be no substantial objection from any responsible quarter. What then is the real objection? It is simply this: Those who wish to preserve the status quo want to retain on the bench judges who may be relied upon to veto progressive measures."

Political Stand

A more political conception of the duty of the Supreme Court of the United States could not have been expressed by anybody in Washington, and yet, in accusing conservatives of wanting the present bench retained, the attorney general evidently forgot that, in the same speech, in another section, he had made an argument attacking the views of the present members of the supreme court.

So Mr. Cummings leaves the plain inference that the whole debate really centers on what the views of the justices of the supreme court happen to be at this moment. In other words, the president's plan ostensibly recites the age of the justices as the objection, but the real purpose of the proposal is to get rid of supreme court justices who do not agree with the political views of the administration.

It will be noted that the political concept is carried even to the point of the attorney general's claim that the court's decisions have brought into challenge "measures overwhelmingly approved by our people." This is to assert that, in an election in which state and federal issues were intertwined, personalities of rival candidates were involved and not a single word was said about enlarging the supreme court, the American people somehow approved the measures which the court had declared invalid and were now ready to change the justices.

Mr. Cummings insists that opponents of the president's plan are calling it "immoral because they are unable to charge that it is unconstitutional." This is to overlook the many objections being raised to the plan in various quarters. The president's plan is held by many well-informed lawyers to be unconstitutional on its face. Their reasoning is that congress may have the right to fix the size of the supreme court on a definite numerical basis, but it has no right to make the size of the court a fluctuating number contingent on efforts to induce or coerce retirement when in fact congress cannot directly or indirectly change the guarantee of life tenure given by the constitution itself.

Solons Responsible
It is true that a case challenging the validity of the president's plan, if enacted, would be difficult to bring into court, but this does not diminish the responsibility of senators and representatives who have sworn to uphold the constitution.

The great power of an administration in office to carry on a nation-wide campaign for its proposals while opponents are at a disadvantage was never better illustrated than in the Sunday night speech by Mr. Cummings. He has given three radio networks by the National Broadcasting company facilities so most other programs could not compete with the speech. Will these same facilities be granted to such a distinguished opponent of the president's plan as Senator Johnson or Senator Borah or Senator Clark of Missouri? And would radio have consented to allow the same audience which heard the attorney general to listen to a rebuttal immediately afterwards on the same evening and over the same facilities? These questions have been raised on other occasions, but they become vital now as an administration which controls the issuance of radio licenses seeks to use radio facilities to win public opinion to support a plan to change the justices of the supreme court of the United States because their views do not fit in with the administration's idea of progressivism.

Your Income Tax

LOSSES FROM CASUALTIES

To be deductible, a loss arising from "fires, storms, shipwrecks or other casualty" need not be connected with the taxpayer's trade or business. If his home or his automobile is destroyed by fire, or his summer bungalow damaged by flood or storm he may claim a deduction for the loss sustained.

Loss of property by theft or burglary is an allowable deduction, and need not be incurred in trade or business. Hence, the loss occasioned by the theft of jewelry or an automobile used for pleasure and convenience is deductible. It must be established, however, that the property actually was stolen. Should circumstances attending the loss leave the owner in doubt as to whether it was stolen or lost, the claim would not be allowed.

Losses from wagering transactions are allowable only to the extent of the gains from such transactions.

A loss is deductible only in the year in which it is sustained, even though, as in the case of a theft or casualty, it may not be discovered until a later year. Losses compensated for by insurance or otherwise, of course, are not deductible. However, in the event the amount of insurance is not sufficient to recompense for the loss sustained, the excess of the loss over the amount of the insurance is deductible.

In general, losses for which an amount may be deducted for income tax purposes must be evidenced by closed and completed transactions.

A more political conception of the duty of the Supreme Court of the United States could not have been expressed by anybody in Washington, and yet, in accusing conservatives of wanting the present bench retained, the attorney general evidently forgot that, in the same speech, in another section, he had made an argument attacking the views of the present members of the supreme court.

actions, fixed by identifiable events, bona fide and actually sustained during the taxable period for which claimed. For instance, a person possessing stock of a corporation cannot deduct from gross income any amount claimed as a loss merely on account of shrinkage in value of such stock through fluctuation of the market or otherwise. The loss allowable in such cases is that actually suffered when the stock is disposed of. If stock of a corporation becomes worthless, its cost or other basis is deductible by the owner for the taxable year in which the stock becomes worthless, provided a satisfactory showing is made of its worthlessness. A loss on account of stock becoming worthless is deductible only for the taxable year in which the stock becomes worthless and not for any other year, regardless of the fact that there may not be income for the year in which the stock becomes worthless against which to apply such loss.

Municipal Utilities Affected by Measure

Madison—The cities of Kaukauna, Menasha and others in the Fox river valley having municipally owned light and water plants would be affected under the terms of a bill introduced into the assembly by Assemblyman John T. Kostuck, (Prog.) Portage.

Kostuck's bill will require that municipal water and light utilities furnish free water and light to schools, colleges and charitable institutions within their limits. The

Amlie Withdraws From Sponsorship of Meas- ure in House

(Post Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington — The American Youth Act, to make life financially easier for young people between 16 and 25, has just made its bow in the present congress, minus the sponsorship of Wisconsin's Representative Thomas R. Amlie of Elkhorn.

Amlie, who introduced the bill last year with Senator Benson of Minnesota, now governor, as senate sponsor, said he withdrew from the sponsorship because he believed he did not have sufficient time to devote to it.

Such a measure, which still has his support, deserves more time than he will have to give it this session, he said. Other Wisconsin Progressives, according to the American Youth Congress which is behind the bill, declined on the same grounds. Sen. Robert M. LaFollette of Madison, approached as a possible Senate sponsor, declined they said because his labor spy investigations require so much of his attention.

Sponsors of the 1937 version of the Youth Act, which differs from that of last year in that it seeks to extend the National Youth Administration rather than to set up a new federal agency, are Sen. Lundeen of Minnesota and Reps. Maury Maverick of Texas and Jerry Voorhis of California.

Ask 500 Million

The measure calls for an appropriation of $500,000,000 for the first year of its operation. Part of this would be spent as wages to young people employed on special public works projects such as construction of hospitals, playgrounds, flood control, soil conservation and slum clearance projects.

The bill specifies that wages on these projects would equal the trade-union hourly rate for similar work in the locality.

Vocational training would be given free of charge, and the measure would continue academic work projects now afforded under the NYA.

The proposed youth administration would consist of a National
